

Print v Web for Regionals - September 2012

MMO Local Media Briefing Notes

How was the data compared?

- The NLA searched for 12 keywords in eClips (via ClipShare) and eClips Web database between the 27th August 2012 to 9th September 2012.
- The resulting data sample comprising 1093 articles from both sources was combined for matching.
- The articles were matched based on the headline and marked “Shared” where the headlines were the same.
- The remaining articles were checked and where the headlines were similar (e.g. the same words but different order, or one or two words were different) the opening and body text of the articles were then compared manually. Where the body text was the same the articles were marked “Shared”.
  - Where the body text was the same except for minor differences (e.g. opening text had been rewritten, or an additional paragraph added at the end) the articles were still marked “Shared”.
- The remaining articles were marked as “Web only” or “Print only”

Regional titles

Examples of web only

All of the articles unique to the website fell in to one of four categories:

1. Articles from a wire service such as Press Association. These usually appear in the 'National News' sections, plus 'Sport' and occasionally 'Entertainment'.
http://www.thenorthernecho.co.uk/sport/national/9898392.Gunners\_braced\_for\_Walcott\_exit/
2. Articles from a blog, or opinion column. Examples are the Schumpeter blog on The Economist, and Mark Steel's column on Belfast Telegraph.
<http://www.economist.com/node/21562105>
3. Articles from a breaking news section. Examples include the 'Offbeat' section of The Belfast Telegraph.
<http://www.belfasttelegraph.co.uk/breaking-news/offbeat/professor-quizzed-on-car-vandalism-16204421.html>
4. Articles appearing on a subscription portal. For example, paywall content on the Press and Journal Energy website.
